

FIVE VERSIONS OF THE SAME QUESTION

- *what do (/did) we think vs. what does SF think?
- *how has SF intervened in our thought processes?
- *what things (that we take for granted in whatever way) has SF denaturalized for us?
- *what assumptions about ourselves and the world has SF forcibly shattered?
- *how is SF not just the literature of the future but the literature of the present?

In other words . . .

why and how does the kind of SF we've encountered matter?